

Meeting of the Heads of the European Regulatory Authorities at Sounion

The Meeting of the Heads of the European Regulatory Authorities, organized by EETT, was successfully held at Sounion.

Some of the issues discussed in the Meeting were the future of the European Regulatory Group (ERG), the development by the Independent Authorities of effective models for the harmonization of regulatory provisions applicable in the member states with regard to Electronic Communications, as well as the optimum utilization of the know-how acquired. In addition, emphasis was placed on the definition of the relations between the Group and the European Commission.

The Chairman of ERG, Mr. Kip Meek, pointed out: "Effective cooperation between the European Regulatory Authorities is a key to the development of the Electronic Communications sector in Europe and thus, it is fundamental for the financial prosperity of European citizens. The Athens meeting was very productive as we were able to discuss how we can work together more intensively and dynamically in the future. The results of the Meeting will bring about procedural changes, which we hope we will be able to announce later — in 2006". Furthermore, Mr. Meek thanked the President of EETT, Professor Nikitas Alexandridis for the perfect organization and the Greek hospitality.

The President of EETT, Professor Nikitas Alexandridis also stated: "The Athens Meeting was very upbuilding and one of its goals was to prepare the European Regulatory Group for the Meeting of Independent Regulatory Authorities to be held in October in Portugal. The successful organization of the Meeting has highlighted the key role of EETT in establishing the future strategy of the European Regulatory Authorities for Electronic Communications".
