

Domain names

A domain name constitutes a unique name that serves as an “address” and leads to the website owned by a natural/legal person, e.g., “eett.gr”. The extension of the name, for example [.gr], describes the website type, that is the “area” of the Internet to which it belongs.

Εικονίδιο Σελίδας 